Grosse Ile Nature and Land Conservancy Scholarship

In Memory of Founding Member Dr. Bruce Jones

In 1993, GINLC founder Dr. Bruce Jones and other committed residents of Grosse Ile came together with two main goals – to protect and preserve Grosse Ile's precious natural areas, and to educate and inspire future generations of conservation stewards to carry on that work on our island home and throughout the world.

The annual Dr. Bruce Jones Memorial Scholarship was established in 2012 and has been awarded each year to a graduating Grosse Ile High School senior who has exhibited dedication for protecting our natural environment. The application is now expanded to all graduating high school students residing in Grosse Ile Township.

Eligible Grosse Ile students can apply for this scholarship by writing about their experiences working to protect our natural environment. Students graduating from Grosse Ile High School should contact the GIHS Counseling Office for information and applications. Students graduating from other high schools should complete the application found here: <https://www.ginlc.org/bruce-jones-scholarship>

The Grosse Ile Nature & Land Conservancy is a group of hardworking, community contributors who love and appreciate the natural world and its influence on our quality of life. Our mission has two primary objectives:

- The protection and stewardship of the diverse natural resources found in and around the Township of Grosse Ile and the resulting high quality of life they provide our community.
- To provide environmental knowledge to all ages that is so necessary to understand our complex ecosystems and how intimately our human welfare is related to the health of those systems.

The Grosse Ile Nature & Land Conservancy is the only non-governmental organization on Grosse Ile that can legally protect property from development into perpetuity by acquiring it, either by donation or purchase, or by holding conservation easements on it. In turn, it is obligated to manage these properties in accordance with solid land management practices.
